Q. Organization of Student Representatives

The Organization of Student Representatives (OSR) is the organizational entity of the Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC) which deals specifically with medical student issues. This is a national organization that addresses issues common to students from all medical schools. Individual input from each school is through the class representative to the OSR. That representative is selected through the Office of Student Affairs. The selection of each class representative will occur during the second semester of the first year. Each representative serves through the fourth year.
